Do you know the true condition of your church's organ?

Have you considered an organ may be your congregation's single most valuable and long-lasting asset exclusive of your building and property?

Today most organs, especially pipe or hybrid instruments fail to receive the detailed and high-quality maintenance required to provide long lasting reliability and service ensuring the enjoyment by current and future generations.

Whether a pipe or electronic instrument (and yes, electronic instruments are not immune to maintenance needs), you may wish to consider having a thorough and systematic inspection performed by an industry professional resulting in a detailed condition and recommendations report.

If you wish to learn more about our inspection, valuation, consultation, project management, digital augmentation and other services, please phone or email to receive additional information.

You may be surprised with what you will learn!

PLACEMENT

COORDINATOR
Priscilla Ortoski
tap.tortoski1@verizon.net
(727) 845-4745

Next month we will celebrate the 50th anniversary of perhaps humanity's greatest achievement, the Apollo 11 moon landing and Neil Armstrong's walk on the lunar surface. I was six years old and had never been allowed to stay up so late before. We watched the grainy but spellbinding TV images from the basement of my mother's best friend's house. It is one of the earliest clear and powerful memories from my childhood. After that experience, I continued to follow all the moon landings, Skylab, robotic probes and the building of the International Space Station.

As I began to study the organ in high school, friends would sometimes ask me why I wanted to do that. At one of those moments I heard myself say something to the effect of, "It's so amazing — it's like dancing, playing the piano and flying a rocket ship all at the same time!" It was a completely spontaneous reply, but I still think it is a pretty good description of the incredible physical, intellectual and musical requirements of learning to play the organ. And isn't it true that once you are able to perform a challenging piece of music, like the Choral No. 1 in E by Cesar Franck, for example, that it pretty much feels like you have walked on the moon!

During these summer months, I hope all of us can find extra time to learn some new music, dust off some repertoire from the past and enjoy anew the thrill and excitement of dancing, playing the piano and flying a rocket ship powered by the music of some of the greatest composers of all time.

Historic Hazel Wright Organ Back in Christ Cathedral (formerly Crystal Cathedral)

The latest newsletter from Clearwater's Central Music includes news of the return of the Hazel Wright Organ after its restoration and reinstallation in the newly remodeled Christ Cathedral (formerly the Crystal Cathedral). This quote from the article (with several photos) speaks well about the future of this magnificent instrument: "The organ was designed to support congregational singing, fill the vast spaces of the Cathedral with sounds, and be a resource for musical performances. The Roman Catholic Diocese of Orange acknowledges the cultural importance of the organ, and will continue to honor it, not only for its future in Christ Cathedral through liturgical programming, but also in community arts and cultural programming."
